To Whom It May Concern,

davisREED Construction Inc. has and have had Iron Mechanical on multiple projects. They pay excellent attention to the projects and communicate with the architect and engineer throughout the development of each project. The professional way that Iron Mechanical handle themselves make for enjoyable projects.

We appreciate their personal involvement, availability and attention that their field and office staff dedicated to the projects on which we have worked. It has been easy to develop a team approach to the construction process with their knowledgeable preconstruction team.

As a general contractor, I value their use of technology in the field and off as well as their fabrication shop. Iron Mechanical and their employees display a high level of experience, dedication and commitment to quality.

I will definitely continue to work with Iron Mechanical on future projects. I will also be recommending them to clients.

Very truly yours,

Paul Spence
